Competitor Screens (Banking)

HDFC

Simple CTA after success screen

KOTAK

Simple banners on dashboards

Competitor Screens (Fintech)

PAYTM

Leveraging higher relevance to give more real estate

CRED

Treated as an add on service that they can opt in,
with clear skip option.

Competitor Screens (Indirect Competitors)

UBER

Prominent banner placement that takes advantage of users wait time, without disrupting the intended flow

AIRBnB

Use emotion led copy to pitch insurance

Common Observations

Insurance touch points are typically surfaced just before or immediately after the main task completion , ensuring relevance without disrupting the core flow.

Additionally, in high relevant products (Cred, paytm, airbnb) they appear even appear between the journey , where users are already committed to completing the task in highly compatible products.

Patterns

- Micro- price framing
 - Highlighting the monthly contribution instead of the yearly payable
- Emotional Storytelling
 - Illustrations and copy that taps into positive emotions or reassures users against unwanted situations.
- Provide Choice
 - Make it seem as the users choice to preserve trust
- Progressive Disclosure
 - Provide only the most relevant information upfront with benefits shown on 2nd layer to avoid load
- Spot Idle Moments
 - Use low-focus moments to gently draw attention to these offerings.

Recommendations

Placements

Post-transaction success screens

User feels a sense of completion + is receptive to "protect what you just did."

Confirmation/review screens

In products where Insurance seem like an extension to it, it will ensure conversions without disruptions

Contextual positioning

User feels a sense of completion + is receptive to "protect what you just did."

Monthly insights or statements

During reflective moments → users are more open to planning.

Why this works?

- Leverages the post-deposit success moment, where users are most open to safeguarding their financial commitment.

UPI Journey (Cyber Cover/ UPI Protect/ PPP)

Why these works?

- Positioned on contact page, confirm payment & on the success, not diluting the main payment screen,
- The positions capitalising on heightened risk awareness without interfering with the core transaction.

Credit Card (Credit life)

Why these works?

- Positioned on dashboard, confirm payment & on the success: not disturbing the main journey and decision points,
- When users are already thinking about liabilities, making protection feel like a natural extension (add on), not a cross-sell.

Mutual Fund Journey (SIP Protect)

Why this works?

- The SIP flow remains unchanged; insurance is introduced only after completion or on existing SIP detail screen.
- User is financially committed & thinking long-term hence making them more open to protection-based messaging

Current recommendations are limited to selected journeys and can be extended to other journeys as requirements and direction evolve.
