Some users successfully located the 'Resume Journey' tab and inquired about its purpose.

Users missed the toggle because other, more eye-catching elements on the screen drew their attention.

→ Users had mixed reactions to the page: some found it clear, others confusing, with one noting unclear instructions. The choice pill for address type was deemed unnecessary for the permanent address to few users, as it's fetched from Aadhaar, and better suited for the communication address.

- Most users preferred the debit card option to be optional, as they had the choice to opt out with their current banks.
- Few users found the toggle a good method for showing an alternate address, while most suggested that it should be highlighted more effectively.
- Some users preferred a direct approach for entering an alternate address, suggesting terms like 'Communication address' or 'Address 1' and 'Address 2' with a 'Same as above' option.

Research Recommendations

UX

- Provision of information about the different account types and their corresponding funding details earlier in the journey.
- Including more options in the occupation and source of income fields or addition of an 'Others' option with a text field for users to enter additional details if needed.
- For address use of familiar terms like 'Address 1' and 'Address 2' with an option for Same as above and if providing a toggle, ensure it's well-highlighted for better visibility on the page.
- Mention of account names along with details like minimum balance to help users make informed decisions, and combine the account type and funding amount into a single page.

Research Recommendations

UI

- Avoiding use of choice pills from the permanent address field.
- Provision of an option for users to opt out of the debit card if they choose.

Technical

- Verify Aadhaar-PAN linkage when the data is entered to prevent potential frauds during the V-KYC stage.
- Notify the user early in the journey that they need to be within a 50 km radius of the provided address for V-KYC to proceed, and inform them that V-KYC won't be possible until they are at the specified location to prevent failure during V-KYC.

Thank You
